

River Cruising on The Rhone

Exploring Provence by River

The Rhône winds its way through the heart of Provence, allowing you to visit charming towns like Avignon, Arles, and Viviers from the comfort of your river cruise ship. Avignon is home to the impressive Palais des Papes, the former residence of the popes during the 14th century. Arles boasts remarkably preserved Roman ruins and was a source of inspiration for Van Gogh. The medieval town of Viviers features narrow cobblestone streets and the beautiful Viviers Cathedral

Rhône Valley Wines

No trip to this region would be complete without sampling the famous wines produced along the Rhône Valley. The cruise provides the perfect opportunity to visit renowned wine villages like Châteauneuf-du-Pape and taste the rich red blends made from Grenache, Syrah, and Mourvèdre grapes. Further north, you can explore the Côtes du Rhône and Hermitage appellations known for their exceptional Syrah wines.

Culinary Delights

The cuisine of Provence is a highlight, with dishes showcasing fresh local ingredients like olive oil, herbs, vegetables, and seafood. On board, you can enjoy regionally-inspired meals paired with local wines. Consider a shore excursion to learn about regional specialties like tapenade, bouillabaisse, or the famous black truffles from the Rhône Valley

Scenic River Cruising

While the Rhône may not be as dramatic as the Rhine with its castles, the scenery along the river is still picturesque, especially between Tournon and Vienne where the ship cruises past sloping vineyards. Take in the views from the top deck as you glide past medieval villages, historic monuments, and the beautiful Provençal countryside. By blending the region's history, culinary traditions, renowned wines, and scenic landscapes, a Rhône river cruise offers an immersive and relaxing way to experience the essence of southern France
